Emamou

About

Emamou commits to delivering only low-carbon sustainable materials and products for the circular and bioeconomy. They decline our dependence on fossil resources, reduce greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions of the plastic industry, create new jobs and sustainable markets. Bioplastic products are established in our key business portfolios as they contribute to a greener and more sustainable economy and society.

Emamou supplies a variety of packaging materials made of bioplastics or recycled plastics for a wide range of applications. Our packaging products have European sustainability certificates and comply with the EN Standard 13432 for compostability or with the global recycling standards.

Designed Packaging Products

Packaging products can be made from various low-carbon materials such as bioplastics, recycled plastics, or recycled papers.

Plastic scraps and paper waste are collected, sorted out, washed and then reprocessed into new products. These products can be recycled many times and have low or nearly zero negative impacts for the environment. They are truly a winner of a sustainable lifestyle.
